

POLICE COMMISSION SEEKS PUBLIC INPUT

The Buffalo Valley Regional Police Commission invites interested members of the public to participate in its Listening Tour. We are seeking input from local folks and would like to hear from you.

The regional police department was established in 2011 when Lewisburg Borough and East Buffalo Township merged forces. The commission seeks to learn what is currently important to local residents in terms of public safety and community policing. Members of the public can request an opportunity to respond to a set of five questions. A brief confidential interview by phone or in person will be conducted by one of the commission members. Alternatively, a survey can be completed online. To participate, individuals should sign up at
